Volume 27 Issue 18

May 5, 2024

As we were staying there for some days, a prophet named Agabus came down from Judea. And he came to us and took Paul’s belt and bound his own feet and hands, and said, “This is what the Holy Spirit says: ‘In this way the Jews in Jerusalem will bind the man who owns this belt and hand him over to the Gentiles.’” When we had heard this, we as well as the local residents began begging him not to go up to Jerusalem. Then Paul replied, “What are you doing, weeping and breaking my heart? For I am ready not only to be bound, but even to die in Jerusalem for the name of the Lord Jesus.” And since he would not be persuaded, we became quiet, remarking, “The will of the Lord be done!” (Acts 21:10-14 NASB)

Proven Wrong

"I want to be proven wrong." Wow! That's a different perspective. Most of us want to be proven right. Maybe we desire being proven right too much. If one loves truth, then personal glory and praise have no place in the pursuit.

It's okay to be wrong. Thomas Edison may have said, "I have not failed 700 times. I've succeeded in proving 700 ways how not to build a lightbulb."

In searching for biblical truth, it may be even more important to allow people to be wrong. When we do not allow people to be wrong, we squelch the pursuit of truth and encourage accepting traditional beliefs and practices simply because they are traditions.

Every one of our beliefs and practices should be examined and reexamined from the perspective that they might be wrong. After all, we are human, and we are fallible.

May we all be proven wrong until we all understand things the way God intended. Until we see with God's sight, we are wrong. Trying to prove ourselves wrong may be essential for proving what is right.
