Never Alone

Do you know the legend of the Native Indian youth's rite of passage?

His father takes him into the forest, blindfolds him, and leaves him alone. He is required to sit on a stump the whole night and not remove the blindfold until the rays of the morning sun shine upon him. He cannot cry out for help. Once he survives the night, he is a man. He cannot tell the other boys of this experience, because each lad must come into manhood on his own.

The boy is naturally terrified. He can hear all kinds of noises. Wild beasts surely be all around him. Maybe even some human might do him harm. The wind blows rustling the grass and tree leaves. But, he sits stoically, never removing the blindfold. It is the only way he could become a man.

Finally, after a horrific night, the sun appears and he removes the blindfold. It is then that he discovers his father sitting on the stump next to him. He has been watching the entire night, protecting his son from harm.

We, too, are never alone. Even when we don't know it, God is watching over us, sitting on the stump beside us. When trouble comes, all we have to do is reach out to him.
